SATURDAY, FEB. 9, 1856

[ In noticing a recent work of Dr. Gard at between Good and Bad Men," which is kept cale by A. Davidson on Third effect in this ty, we quoted from it an extract, in which the the Bible in the Romish Church, and that the

In reply to our notice our attention has been invited to an English version of the Bible, which it suthorized by the Pope, and may be seen at the Catholic bookstore in this city. When the exhibition of a Bible was first gotten np, and by what particular Pope the exhibition was licessed, we are not informed. But we venture the remark that it is of very recent origin in the aucient Roman Church; that it does not date-before the present Papal reign; that it is confined to countries of Protestant Christianity; and, en in them, unlike other shows, it is never visited or seen by the plain common people.

The Council of Trent did utter an edic

"The Church would have such He says that we mix spirit and water her old and only right of inheritance, and does gill measure of whicky, pour it into a pint cu; of belong to heretice at all."

Is any additional proof wanting that the Catholic Bible may have been printed in the Uoited States for effect? But of what avail is such a translation if it is to be laid on the shelves of bookstores and is never to be read except by permission of the bishops, and is Democrat all to be interpreted by the people. And even if we were to admit that the Catholic Church has organized a Bible Society in the U. States and had actually printed an dustributed millions of Bibles to be read indifmister of the Church of England, who epan dred and five francs, which is equal to four pounds sterling, and that under such circum. ficiency of about $2,500,000 in the means prostances he could not but regard the Ho y Scrip- vided by the constitution for the culargement.

pounds sterling, and that under such circumchances be could not but regard the Hoy Scriptures as a probibited book. It appears, then that if we go to the bookstore in Rome-patronized by his Holiness, Pope Pius IX, we cannot get a cheap and portable Bible. But if we go to the bookstore in Louisville patronized by his Lordship, Bishop Spalding, we may get some sort of a Bible, authorized by the Pope. The Papal metropolis—the Seven-Ilited city—the emporisim of Catholicity itself—will be searched in vain for a cheap and readable copy of the Seriptures. But if the outeast, hesighted, herctical, and mob-ridden city of Louisville bad within itself a Protestant bookstore without a Bible, the fact would fill the entire population with unniterable surprise. Even the Catholic bookstore, to save appearances, must yield, to some extent, to the influence of Protestant Christianity.

a bit is a periodic the served $100, with no other nitimate effect than to convince the great body of the English people that he is most wrong-headed and narrow-minded person, exceedingly prone to mitake trade for statesmanslup, and profit for parinotism. His influence in England to-day, beyond the small circle of reformers whose idol he is, can lardly exceed that of the most crimson Red Republican in this country. His career is virtually ended. As a political agitator he has achieved sensible results, and might achieve them again, but as As a political agritator he bas achieved sensible results, and might achieve them again, but as the counsellor of a nation in a critical period of her history he cuts a most pittul figure. There is, indeed, nothing in his obstracter to attlet the confidence of a people, but, on the contrary, everything to repel it. He is opinionative without depth or segacity, practical without solidity or tact, chimerical without enthusiasm, and audacious without inspiration. His somewhat briffiant success in the days of Peel was factitious rather than legitimate. The Cayphore of a class, he became e hero only by accident Nothing could be more natural or inevitable than his anbsequent decline to the point of general repugnance and distrust he has at length reached, and in which he bids fair to rest.

LITTLE ROCK, Jan. 12, 1856.

GENTLEMEN: Many thanks to the gallant Representative from the Louisville district. His speech, on the 18th of December, is well worting of his great reputation. He has form the masses from Northern Democracy, so far as the Kansas-Nebraska question is concerned. The truit is, that this great trump of the Administration party has duped thousands of honest men South; made them believe that the supporters of M. Petece in the free States advocated the Kansas-Nebraska built because it secured to the South and the truit is drawn out, it appears the squalf-reservings dy doctrine is the way they interpret. All the rights and privileges which are justly theirs under the Constitution. But when the truth is drawn out, it appears the squalf-reservings dy doctrine is the way they interpret. All them to be desired, by plain unmistakable law, the right to take it there.
